

CHANGE IN ACCEPTABLE ID DOCUMENTS FOR JLAB ACCESS:

The REAL ID Act (Public Law 109-13) now determines which state driver's license can be presented and accepted as a valid ID document for access to Jefferson Lab.

The following states/US territories have been determined by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security to have failed to comply with the REAL ID Act:

Maine, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana and Washington

As of March 2, 2015, Jefferson Lab began using the REAL ID Act verification for all driver's licenses presented to fulfill Lab access ID requirements. Jefferson Lab will not be able to accept, as a valid form of ID, a driver's license from any of the above 5 states/US territories found by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security to be in non compliance with the REAL ID Act. All other current Lab ID and access requirements, per our Security Plan, will remain the same.

Other forms of acceptable valid ID documents in lieu of a driver's license from these 5 states/US territories can be found at the following link:

<http://www.tsa.gov/traveler-information/acceptable-ids>

Please contact Kris Burrows at x7548 with any questions.